Major League Baseball - 67 Years Ago

Baseball fans of today know that there are 30 major league teams in 27 cities from coast to coast and even into Canada. New York City, Chicago and Los Angeles have two teams each and Toronto is the Canadian entry.

Compare that to MLB of 1952 when there were only 16 teams playing in 10 cities, none farther west than St. Louis, nor any farther south than Washington, D.C. There were 3 teams in New York City and 2 each in Boston, Chicago, St. Louis and Philadelphia.

The Chautauqua Sports Hall of Fame has inducted 10 professional baseball players who were in the major leagues in 1952 or earlier: Hugh Bedient, 1912-1914; Walt Brown, 1947; Ray Caldwell, 1910-1921; Howard Ehmke, 1916-1930; Swat Erickson, 1914-1922; Nellie Fox, 1947-1965; Jack Harper, 1899-1906; Tommy Leach, 1898-1915, 1918; Irv Noren, 1950-1960; and Johnny O’Neil, 1946

So for which of the 16 major league teams of those times did the CSHOF inductees play?

New York Yankees	Caldwell (1910-1918) and Noren (1952-1956)
New York Giants	Erickson (1914)
Brooklyn Dodgers	No one, although Noren played for the relocated LA Dodgers in 1960
Boston Red Sox	Bedient (1912-1914), Caldwell (1919) and Ehmke(1923-1926)
Boston Braves	No one
Chicago Cubs	Harper (1906), Leach (1912-1914) and Noren (1959-1960)
Chicago White Sox	Fox (1950-1963)
St. Louis Browns	Brown (1947) and Harper (1902)
St. Louis Cardinals	Harper (1900-1901) and Noren (1957-1959)
Philadelphia Athletics	Ehmke (1926-1930) and Fox (1947-1949)
Philadelphia Phillies	O’Neil (1946)
Cleveland Indians	Caldwell (1919-1921) and Harper (1899)
Pittsburgh Pirates	Leach (1900-1912, 1918)
Washington Senators	Erickson (1919-1922) and Noren (1950-1952)
Cincinnati Reds	Harper (1903-1906) and Leach (1915)
Detroit Tigers	Ehmke(1916-1922) and Erickson (1916, 1918-1919)

One other CSHOF inductee, Dave Criscione, played major league baseball for the Baltimore Orioles in 1977. Before the Orioles moved to Baltimore in 1954, they were the St. Louis Browns.

After World War II, there were 366 minor league teams playing in 52 leagues from Maine to California and from Cuba to Alberta, Canada. There were 42 teams in North Carolina alone! Nearly 10,000 players were under contract from Class D through Class AAA. It makes one wonder if CSHOF inductee, Dan Lunetta, the Director of Minor League Operations for the Detroit Tigers, would have liked to have been in charge during that era!
